Red Cross Donations Reach $817.00 Mark

The Red Cross Appeal in the Didsbury district has been slowed down somewhat by the inclement weather, and while some canvassers have almost completed the rounds of their allotted territory, others are just getting started.

Collections have been slow and on Monday it was reported that the sum of $817.00 had been turned in to campaign headquarters. This is far from the quota of $3,000.00 set for Didsbury and district, but it is hoped that with weather conditions improving the canvassers will be able to complete their calls and make their final reports.

Due to blocked roads many of the country people will not see a canvasser, but their donation is still urgently needed and can be mailed direct to the campaign headquarters at Robber Brothers office, or to any one of the canvassers.

The time is short, the need is great. Give now and make your contribution as generous as possible at this time.

NOTE—Owing to lack of space a further list of donations could not be published in this issue.

MELVIN NEWS

The March meeting of the Melvin W.I. was held last week at the home of Mrs. L. Chandler with 11 members and two visitors in attendance. A new member was welcomed into the group. Roll call, a household hint, was very helpful.

It will be in the Melvin hall in the afternoon and Rugby W.I. will be entertained. Members are also urged to bring a friend if they care to.

Owing to the rough weather Mr. and Mrs. Emil Krebs were forced to postpone their 25th wedding anniversary celebration. It was held last Wednesday in the Melvin hall and a very enjoyable evening was spent in old time dancing. Music was supplied by the Krebs Orchestra. At supper time the guests of honor were presented with a beautiful wine reclining chair with matching foot stool from the Melvin hall on March 30 with music supplied by the Melody Five. Two door prizes will be Monday evening.

Regular Hurricane Hits District Thursday Night

Old-time March weather has continued in Alberta. Following the 40 above temperatures last Thursday and puddles of water everywhere, the wind changed to the north in the evening and a howling blizzard, with 80 mile an hour winds and ten feet in height, hit the district. A beautiful lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Following the storm many motorists were reported stranded in their cars from all parts of the province including some Didsbury people. Walter Snyder, Hugh McPhail and Chas. Yauch remained overnight in their cars near Eagle Hill, before being able to get out.

None of the local residents suffered ill effects from their experience. Six Alberta persons are reported to have lost their lives in the storm, which lasted more than 12 hours before the wind abated. Temperatures remained around the zero point during the night in the city. The blizzard in the district is reported to have survived with no serious losses being reported.

In the main event the Alf Studer and Tom Morris rinks battled the finals to give Morris a victory and the individual trophies.

In the secondary event the Harry Kitchin and Clint Reber rinks reached the final, with the Richardson rink taking the honors.

The bonspiel was again a decided success, although a number of one-day-a-year curlers are still complaining of aches and pains following their strenuous exercise.

Mrs. A. Waldruff was hostess to the Zella W.I. when 11 members and two visitors met at her home Thursday afternoon, March 15, and the original spring or Easter verses given as roll call certainly displayed some poetic talent amongst the group.

Minutes and business followed, and a letter requesting blood donors was read.

Celebrate Arrival in Alberta in Year 1906

An enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Deadrick on March 15, when the Deadrick and Wilson families celebrated the 45th anniversary of their arrival in Alberta. They came on the same train, the Wilsons from Mount City, Mo., and the Deadricks from Albert City, Ia.

The guests came dressed in fashions of 1906 or earlier, and sat down to a typical homesteader's meal of beans, dried apples, prunes, etc.

The program afterwards consisted of relating pioneer experiences by the older people, and musical numbers by the younger members.

The blizzard interrupted the party and when the folks started for home they only traveled a few yards on the highway when they were blinded by the snow and turned back to spend the night. Only one car load, that of John Deadrick, got home that evening.

Those present at the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. John Deadrick, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Deadrick and family, Dorris Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shoebottom and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ben St. Clair and Carol, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter McInnes.

SHOULD RED CROSS SERVICES BE CURTAILED?

In the commentary by the National Commissioner on the 1949 Annual Report of the Canadian Red Cross Society there is posed a startlingly forthright question: "Are we content to admit that the public will not support us to the extent of our actual needs and reduce our services accordingly?"

The question was inspired by two facts. The first was that the $5,000,000 objective of the 1949 Red Cross Appeal was not achieved. The second was the excess of $1,035,067.69 in expenditures on services over revenue. Obviously, such a continuing drain on financial resources could not be long maintained. On the other hand, demand for and reliance upon many Red Cross services, in peace as in war, is such that abrupt curtailment to meet varying amounts of revenue is not possible.

Of the many services provided by the Red Cross, which could be most readily dispensed with? Are the outpost hospitals superfluous? (In Ontario alone in 1949 the 30 Red Cross outpost hospitals received 9,486 patients; performed 4,225 operations; assisted in 2,213 births; examined 13,425 school children.) Should the shipments of clothing, food and supplies to Britain, Germany, France, Greece, Trans-Jordan, Italy and Palestine be halted? Is the blood transfusion service really necessary? Were the rapidly organized efforts of the Red Cross during the Noronic disaster effective?

A truly national organization, with international affiliations, the Canadian Red Cross had 1,171,689 senior and 881,050 junior members at the end of 1949, notable increases over 1948. Surely this evidence of growth within the Society itself suggests that it is a "going concern," a factor which should inspire greater generosity by the public generally in supporting the present and all future Red Cross Annual Appeals for funds, and in ensuring that the full complement of Red Cross services be maintained.—Toronto Board of Trade Journal.

INTEREST IN TAR SANDS

A number of groups have expressed interest in northern Alberta's vast oil sands but the Government has not yet received any development proposals. Premier E.C. Manning said last week in the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Manning said the deposits will be developed under private enterprise "but under full safeguards as far as the welfare of the Province is concerned."

Industries Minister Dr. J.L. Robinson said the United States is naturally interested in the oil sands because of the tremendous known reserves of oil. He read from the report of S. M. Blair, Toronto economist, which said that by 1975 the U.S. will be short by 3.5 to 4.5 billion barrels of oil supply annually.

Mr. Blair, engaged by the Alberta Government to investigate the economic possibilities of the oil sands, reported development was economically feasible.

TO CONTINUE SEARCH FOR TREASURE IN SCOTLAND

New attempts will be made at Tobermory, Scotland, in April to wrest from the Atlantic floor the secrets of the $100,000,000 Spanish treasure galleon Duque de Medinilla. Divers last summer found an ancient hulk at the bottom of Tobermory's Island bay. It may be the wreck of an armaments ship—sunk 350 years ago after fleeing from Sir Francis Drake and the English fleet.

The man with the biggest stake in the new salvage effort is the Duke of Argyll, 47-year-old Scottish peer whose family has long owned the bay where salvage operations were carried out last year by the Navy. "We hope to get going again in Tobermory in about a month," he says.

Last year's salvage operations yielded silver medallions, a stone cannon ball and other relics, strengthening the belief that the craft buried under the waters of the bay is indeed the Florencia.

But whether her reputed hoard of gold plate, doubloon ducats and pieces of eight still remain on board has yet to be established.

The Spaniards blew the ship up after trouble with local chieftains. Maclean of Durat. Some of the sturdy islanders apparently feel that successive generations of Macleans must have gone to considerable lengths to test the story of the treasure.

Island skeptics say they have seen more money poured into Tobermory harbour in the search than will ever come out of it.

They were temporarily silenced last year when the Navy, with up-to-date scientific equipment, produced new evidence of the galleon after a grim struggle against giant natural forces 60 feet under the surface of the bay.

Divers with the aid of powerful air jets and compressor pumps, uncovered the mysterious old craft from a shifting bed of silt. They were satisfied it was the Florencia. But the bay still jealously hugged her secret, and quickly recovered the galleon's grave as soon as the pumps stopped work.

Last year's salvage effort was a "limited operation," in which surface storms and tearing undercurrents menaced the divers.

They eventually weighed anchor and sailed away with the hulk still in Davy Jones' locker—but they left behind new hopes that the 350-year-old mystery of the Florencia will soon be solved.

GERMINATION TESTS CONDUCTED AT HOME

Germination tests at home are the practical and common sense answer to farmers who question whether their seed is going to germinate properly after they sow it. For the common crop, home germination tests can be made successfully on a sample which will most nearly represent the entire lot.

The usual practice is to use 100-seed counts, in duplicate, or more. The average of the separate tests is then used to determine the percentage of germination.

Clean blotting paper, absorbent cotton, paper towels, or cloth may be used as a substratum to hold the seeds. Place 100 seeds on the cloth and cover with the same kind of material. Place on a large dinner plate and cover with another one. Sand may also be used for testing seeds of cereals, corn, peas and beans.

Seeds should not be allowed to rest in the water. The substratum should be soaked in water and the free water allowed to drain off before the seeds are planted.

Uniform temperature ranging from 65 to 85 degrees F is suitable. Sprouts should not be removed and counted before they are large enough to determine if they are healthy and appear capable of developing into useful plants. Clovers and other legumes in particular should be examined carefully for broken and abnormal sprouts that start growth but are incapable of continuing to grow into plants.

EASTER MEANS REBIRTH

It is significant that the two great festivals of the Christian Church should both commemorate the birth of Christ. Christmas celebrates His coming to earth and Easter His rebirth after having been claimed by death.

Birth is a beginning and rebirth a beginning again. Easter signifies that man can be reborn. Not only does it offer hope of life after death, it also gives mankind hope that, spiritually, the people of the earth can throw off the shackles of the past and go forward into the future with new confidence that the human race need not perish.

Forces of destruction have predominated so far in this twentieth century. Man has been clever: he has invented countless gadgets to make life easier for those who can afford them; he has cut down space and has brought the nations closer together; he has probed into the secrets of the universe and has learned how to use the power of atoms for warfare.

But man has not yet achieved the fundamental precept, that unless he learns to live in peace with his fellows, all his clever gadgets and all his power will ultimately destroy him.

Man everywhere on earth has yet to be reborn—he has to change his attitudes, his thinking, his very nature.

Instead of suspicion of his neighbors, he must learn trust; instead of using spies and propaganda, he must learn to use friendship and tolerance; he must learn to get along with his fellow men whose ideas and way of life may be different from his own. So important is this that the very future of civilization may depend upon it.

The message of Easter—that forces of good will always sooner or later triumph over the powers of darkness—gives hope to every human being on earth who can hear it. What a pity it is that so many millions of people have no knowledge of the message that Christ brought to earth!

What can we do about it? We can at least make our own belief in Christianity more vital. Christians in Canada have tended to forget that theirs is a living religion, teaching a way of life that few have ever dared to try. Christianity has become so encrusted with doctrine and tradition and dogma that its fundamental truth has been hidden. What sort of a world would this be if, even in one country, every person tried to follow the way of life taught by Christ? No one knows. It has never been done.

The rebirth of man to new sanity and new consciousness of his relation to his fellow men must start in the community. From there it must spread to all the nation and hence to other nations.

It is not an easy thing to attempt to live up to the teachings of Christ. Easter would be a good time to start to do so.

Easter is a challenge to the Christians of the world. They, and they alone, can make it possible for humanity to survive. They must, through the example of their lives show others how to live so that the forces of evil may, in time, be vanquished forever.

FOREST BIOLOGY DIVISION FORMED

Formation of a Division of Forest Biology within the Science Service of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has been announced. Headed by J.J. deGooze as divisional chief, the new division is actually the amalgamation of the two units of forest entomology and forest pathology in which the Department's scientists have been working for nearly half a century for the preservation of Canada's forests.

BLOOD PLASMA FOR ARMED SERVICES

Immediate response by Canadian citizens to the federal government's request for blood and blood products for the armed forces has already resulted in increased registration of volunteer blood donors across the country. H.H. Leather, national blood donor chairman, Canadian Red Cross Society, said recently.

"We hope to be able to deliver the first 1000 bottles of plasma to the Minister of National Defence at Ottawa before the end of the month," he declared.

At least an additional 100,000 bottles of blood will be needed in 1951 to meet the new commitments, for both the armed forces and civil defence needs, the chairman explained. This is half again as much as was collected from volunteer donors in 1950.

"This emergency calls for an increase in our national budget of $5,000,000, as well as increase in the number of donors," he continued, referring to the Society's annual appeal for funds taking place this month.

Nearly 100,000 Canadians received free blood and plasma in 1950 through the Society's free national blood transfusion service which operates in eight provinces, including parts of Ontario and Quebec. Approximately 200,000 Canadian volunteers gave blood. The service will extend to Saskatchewan in 1951. In Ontario, special clinics will be conducted for the armed forces program where the national service is not yet operating.

ALBERTA OIL PRODUCTION

R.C.A.F. HEAD LAUDS SABRE
WORLD'S DEADLIEST FIGHTER

Proved in combat against the best the Russians have to offer in Korea, the F-86 Sabre jet, the Western World's fastest and deadliest fighter plane, drew the praise of Air Marshal W. Curtis, Canadian's Chief of Air Staff, last week.

"The Sabre has now proved itself in combat to be the outstanding aircraft," the Air Marshal said of the latest model of the F-86, now in production for the RCAF at Canadian Limited in nearby Cartierville.

The RCAF's top figure is obviously gratified that the Air Force is on its way to having its full complement of the F-86. "When our interceptor squadrons are equipped with Sabres," he said significantly, "we will have a first-class fighting force."

The Sabre jet is a rakish, blunt-nosed, streamlined seven-ton job, which holds the official world's speed record with an admitted 670 miles per hour. The wings are swept back at an angle of 35 degrees to reduce the effect of shock waves and allow combat speeds close to the speed of sound.

COLUMBIA IMPORTED FOOD

The Institute Nacional de Abastecimientos, a semi-official government agency, imported more than $11 million worth of foodstuffs in 1950. The majority of the foodstuffs imported were necessary by a very bad crop-year during 1950, brought about by incessant rains. The imports in order of importance, were dry red beans, bread, flour, table potatoes, rice, lentils, corn, chick peas and dried peas. Of the 10,226 tons of potatoes imported, 3,000 tons originated in Canada. At least three-quarters of the flour imported was of Canadian origin. In addition, wheat valued at approximately US $6 million was imported by two purchasing co-operative offices of the flour mills, and practically all of this grain was Canadian No. 1 Northern.

WILD MAN RETURNS

"Who's the stranger, mother dear? Look he knows us—ain't he queer?" "Hush, my own, don't talk so wild: He's your father's dearest child." "He's my father? Not at all; Father died away last fall." "Father didn't die, you dub, Father joined the curling club. But they've closed the club, so he has no place to go you see—No place left for him to roam—That is why he is coming home. Kiss him—he won't bite you child; All them curling guys look wild."

Headache pill manufacturers say the people of the United States have 7,500,000,000 headaches a year. Nobody has counted Canadian headaches.

READY TO SWITCH

The Canadian automotive industry is just about ready to start producing army vehicles. The lag between the initial official announcement and the start of actual orders for production is typical of what's happening in almost every phase of the defense production program. It explains to some extent the talk of billions for defense but little or no actual work under way.

IN THE LEGISLATURE

(By H. G. Hammell, M.L.A.)

The big news in the Legislature during the second week was Premier E. C. Manning's record high Ninety-Four Million Dollar Budget. This exceeds last year's budget by nineteen million dollars. It provides for a reduction in taxes, fees and licenses to help all tax payers by an amount in excess of three million dollars. More than twenty-five million dollars will go to school districts and municipal units. Much of the Government's increased revenue is coming from the development of our natural resources. The one-cent tax on industrial and agricultural gasoline is being discontinued although the amount is being increased on all other gasoline. This will help the agriculture producers and will not cost the average motorist any more to operate his car as licenses have been reduced in nearly all cases. By reducing automobile licenses and increasing the gasoline tax from nine cents to ten cents, the man who uses the roads the most will be helping to pay for them. Even at the new figure, there will be no Province in Canada with a lower gasoline tax.

One of the main features of this year's budget has been the program worked out by the Government to bring direct assistance to help taxpayers. Over the years the Government has increased each year its grant to the municipalities but there has not been a corresponding decrease in municipal taxation. The new program will encourage a reduction of municipal taxation without the municipality suffering a loss in income. Four cents of the gasoline tax will go into a fund which will be made available to municipalities. The Government will pay a tax reduction subsidy up to three mills to any municipality unit that in any year reduces or retains its aggregate mill rate below the highest mill rate it levied on a comparable basis of assessment in any one year after 1949. For each mill the municipal unit reduces its tax, the Provincial Government will subsidize it one mill. The assessment used in this will be on the basis of 1942 values. When the millage has been paid out of the line to meet these mill rate reductions, the remainder of the fund will be distributed as unconditional grants to all municipal units on the basis of their assessment.

Hon. N.E. Tanner answered the criticism regarding United States capital developing our natural resources by pointing out that he and other Government officials had gone to Eastern Canada on numerous occasions as well as to England in 1947 trying to interest outside capital in the oil development here. He said that only people who were prepared to spend money and take a chance were the American investors.

He indicated that if natural gas were exported outside of Canada that the value by-products in it, which would be utilized in manufacturing industries, would all be taken out before the gasoline left Alberta.

He went on to show that the oil policy followed by the Government was bringing more returns to the treasury than any oil development proposals that had ever been tried anywhere else in the world. He went on to say that since 1947 Oil Companies have spent 336 million dollars in Alberta. This Government from royalties, bonuses, etc., has received $85,624,000. The revenue made by producers in this same period of time was slightly more than 191 million. He said no government was in the position to spend money in these figures and if he had not followed the policy which we have in this province we would not have had the oil development.

And the way to do it is... vaccinate with Bovigen... the "triple antigen" is a preventative. You get the full benefits... cut costly losses... when you use it before disease starts.

Only Costs a Little to be Safe
When you consider that one dose of Bovigen protects a gainst three diseases... the cost per dose is surprisingly low. Then, too, you save time in injecting... one operation instead of three.

Notes From The D.A.

(By Hugh McPhail)

When a cargo of wheat was salvaged from a sunken ship 300 years ago near Bristol, England, it started a revolution in agriculture. Unfit for bread, the salty wheat was used as seed. That year all the wheat in England was smutty except the crop harvested from the "brined" seed. This is believed to have been the origin of seed treatment, a practice that is adding millions of dollars annually to the Canadian farmers' pocket.

One of the latest innovations in modern seed treatment is the slurry method of application. This involves the suspension of disinfectant in water and its application to the seed in that form rather than as dust or powder. The slurry method not only eliminates flying dust during operations but allows treated seed to be stored under the same climatic conditions as untreated seed.

The seed flows from the hopper through an adjustable seed gate into a counter-balanced pan. When the correct weight is reached, the pan trips and dumps the seed into the mixing chamber. A ratchet device automatically advances an endless chain to bring one measure of slurry upon the seed. Weighing, measuring, tripping and mixing are all automatic.

The Gustafson slurry treater is an ideal machine in which "Ceresan" M, a comparatively new and powerful disinfectant for controlling seedborne disease and cereal grains, can be used.

Other slurry treaters are available and offer satisfactory materials.

Head of the Soils Department, University Department of Wisconsin, says "Soil organic matter is of tremendous importance. However, to say that chemical fertilizers should not be used to make up deficiencies that cannot be supplied through use of organic matter is pure "bunkum". Also, "the form in which plants take up nutrients is the same whether originally supplied as organic matter or commercial fertilizer. It is true that composts, promote better physical condition. The farmer in general cannot cover his large acreage with compost, there is simply not enough of it."

Dr. F.C. Bentley, Soils Dept. of Alberta, says "The grass fust being made by the fanatics who advocate the use of only "natural organic fertilizers" is silly. Any good farmer or good gardener knows the great value of manure and composts. In Alberta good farmers are also utilizing crop residue as a protective trash cover and organic matter.

Alberta farmers should use all available farm manure, they should use stubble and combine straw as a trash cover, and they should use commercial fertilizer if it gives paying yield increases."

Contrary to common belief natural gas pipelines seldom help develop new industries in the districts through which they run. But they greatly aid the expansion of existing industries.

TENNIS IN DIDSBURY

At a meeting of the Town Council on Monday, March 19, R. E. Nickie, president of the Didsbury Tennis Club in 1950, brought up the subject of tennis in town and the likelihood of otherwise of its continuance this year. The matter was offered for consideration at this meeting because of the present state of the tennis courts, and the feeling in the president's mind that unless some active steps were taken to complete the work on them, the courts would fall into disrepair.

To date large sums of money have been expended upon the courts, including an initial grant by the L.O. D.E. and a further grant last year. However, despite this financial aid there have at no time in 1950 been sufficient funds available to procure hired labour to finish the courts; as a result the main burden of manual labour necessary has fallen upon the shoulders of one or two of the club members who were unable, despite their efforts, to provide finished playing courts.

Not unnaturally, human nature being as it is, a percentage of players profess no interest in the game if the shadow of work is to hang over them, and to date, because of lack of funds, this shadow has been of a very dark hue where tennis is concerned in this town.

However, when an approach was made to those of school age last year, large numbers of young people expressed a wish to play this particular game.

Now the stage is reached where it is important to know exactly what membership the club could hope to have, if completed courts are available at the beginning of the approaching tennis season. If a sufficiently large number of people wish to play tennis, then, in the next two months enough funds may be raised to complete the courts. Their maintenance during the summer by hired labour will, of course, have to be met by subscriptions and by club entertainments.

If you, as an individual wish to play on shale courts in 1951 (without having to wield a post-hole digger, a rake or a hoe) then place your name on the club membership list in Ken Waugh's, in your school, or give it to the club secretary, Miss Louise Bateman.

You have seven days to decide whether Didsbury will play tennis or not.—Contributed.
